ARIELLA fisha AZOULAY.

Potential is a form of being with others, both living dead, across against the separation of the past from the present, peoples from their worlds and possessions, and history from politics. In this wherein violence ought to be reversed, different options were once eliminated are way of slowing the imperial movement about the inherent universal value of their acquisition and rejects endorsing the archive's mission of sanctioning people's actions as now records of past achievements that rewound. It is this conflict between people's worldly life and the conditioned record of ursued in the of progress natial history unfolds. Potential not the account of of explicit ideological neperialism, but a rejection imperialism's apparatus altogether. The imperial apparatus presumes that such struggles exist only in the past, only as dusty records in the archive. Rehearsals of from the frenetic pursuit of the new necessary if one seeks to see beyond the from the of time against the separation of the past from the present, peoples from their worlds and possessions, and history from politics. In this wherein violence ought to be reversed, different options were once eliminated are as way of slowing the imperial movement. Potential history questions the inherent universal value of records that supersedes local about the mode of their acquisition and rejects endorsing the archive's mission of sanctioning people's actions as now records of past achievements that rewound. It is this conflict between people's worldly life and the conditioned record of ursued in the of progress ntial history unfolds. Potential not the account of of explicit ideological mperialism, but a rejection imperialism's apparatus altogether. The imperial apparatus presumes that such struggles exist only in the past, only as dusty records in the archive. Rehearsals of from the frenetic pursuit of the new necessary if one seeks to see beyond the of time present, worlds and possessions, and history from politics. In this wherein violence ought to be reversed, different options were once eliminated are way of slowing the imperial movement way of slowing the imperial movement. Potential history questions the inherent universal value of records that supersedes local about the mode of their acquisition and rejects endorsing the archive's mission of sanctioning people's actions as now records of past achievements that rewound. It is this conflict between people's worldly life and the conditioned record of ursued in the of progress ntial history unfolds. Potential not the account of of explicit ideological mperialism, but a rejection imperialism's apparatus altogether. The imperial apparatus presumes that such struggles exist only in the past, only as dusty records in the archive. Rehearsals of from the frenetic pursuit of the new necessary if one seeks to see beyond the of time worlds and possessions, and history from politics. In this wherein violence ought to be reversed, different options were once eliminated are way of slowing the imperial movement way of slowing the imperial movement. Potential history questions the inherent universal value of records that supersedes local about the mode of their acquisition and rejects endorsing the archive's mission of sanctioning people's actions as now records of past achievements that rewound. It is this conflict between people's worldly life and the conditioned record of ursued in the of progress ntial history unfolds. Potential not the account of of explicit ideological mperialism, but a rejection imperialism's apparatus altogether. The imperial apparatus presumes that such struggles exist only in the past, only as dusty records in the archive. Rehearsals of from the frenetic pursuit of the new necessary if one seeks to see beyond the of time politics. In this wherein violence ought to be reversed, different options were once eliminated are way of slowing the imperial movement. Potential history questions the inherent universal value of that supersedes local about the mode of their acquisition and rejects endorsing the archive's mission of sanctioning people's actions as now records of past achievements that rewound. It is this conflict between people's worldly life and the conditioned record of ursued in the of progress ntial history unfolds. Potential not the account of of explicit ideological mperialism, but a rejection imperialism's apparatus altogether. The imperial apparatus presumes that such struggles exist only in the past, only as dusty records in the archive. Rehearsals of from the frenetic pursuit of the new necessary if one seeks to see beyond the ought to be reversed, different options were once eliminated are way of slowing the imperial movement. Potential history questions the inherent universal value of that supersedes local about the mode of their acquisition and rejects endorsing the archive's mission of sanctioning people's actions as now records of past achievements that rewound. It is this conflict between people's worldly life and the conditioned record of ursued in the of progress ntial history unfolds. Potential not the account of of explicit ideological nperialism, but a rejection imperialism's apparatus altogether. The imperial apparatus presumes that such struggles exist only in the past, only as dusty records in the archive. Rehearsals of from the frenetic pursuit of the new necessary if one seeks to see beyond the frenetic positions.
ought to be reversed, different options were once eliminated are way of slowing the imperial movement. Potential history questions the inherent universal value of that supersedes local about the mode of their acquisition and rejects endorsing the archive's mission of sanctioning people's actions as now records of past achievements that rewound. It is this conflict between people's worldly life and the conditioned record of ursued in the of progress ntial history unfolds. Potential not the account of of explicit ideological nperialism, but a rejection imperialism's apparatus altogether. The imperial apparatus presumes that such struggles exist only in the past, only as dusty records in the archive. Rehearsals of from the frenetic pursuit of the new necessary if one seeks to see beyond the frenetic pursuit of time
Potential history questions the inherent universal value of that supersedes local about the mode of their acquisition and rejects endorsing the archive's mission of sanctioning people's actions as now records of past achievements that rewound. It is this conflict between people's worldly life and the conditioned record of ursued in the of progress ntial history unfolds. Potential not the account of of explicit ideological nperialism, but a rejection imperialism's apparatus altogether. The imperial apparatus presumes that such struggles exist only in the past, only as dusty records in the archive. Rehearsals of from the frenetic pursuit of the new necessary if one seeks to see beyond the
Potential history questions the inherent universal value of that supersedes local about the mode of their acquisition and rejects endorsing the archive's mission of sanctioning people's actions as now records of past achievements that rewound. It is this conflict between people's worldly life and the conditioned record of ursued in the of progress ntial history unfolds. Potential not the account of of explicit ideological nperialism, but a rejection imperialism's apparatus altogether. The imperial apparatus presumes that such struggles exist only in the past, only as dusty records in the archive. Rehearsals of from the frenetic pursuit of the new of time inherent universal value of that supersedes local about the mode of their acquisition and rejects endorsing the archive's mission of sanctioning people's actions as now records of past achievements that rewound. It is this conflict between people's worldly life and the conditioned record of ursued in the of progress ntial history unfolds. Potential not the account of of explicit ideological nperialism, but a rejection imperialism's apparatus altogether. The imperial apparatus presumes that such struggles exist only in the past, only as dusty records in the archive. Rehearsals of from the frenetic pursuit of the new necessary if one seeks to see beyond the of time that supersedes local about the mode of their acquisition and rejects endorsing the archive's mission of sanctioning people's actions as now records of past achievements that rewound. It is this conflict between people's worldly life and the conditioned record of ursued in the of progress ntial history unfolds. Potential not the account of of explicit ideological nperialism, but a rejection imperialism's apparatus altogether. The imperial apparatus presumes that such struggles exist only in the past, only as dusty records in the archive. Rehearsals of from the frenetic pursuit of the new necessary if one seeks to see beyond the of time mode of their acquisition and rejects endorsing the archive's mission of sanctioning people's actions as now records of past achievements that rewound. It is this conflict between people's worldly life and the conditioned record of ursued in the of progress ntial history unfolds. Potential not the account of of explicit ideological mperialism, but a rejection imperialism's apparatus altogether. The imperial apparatus presumes that such struggles exist only in the past, only as dusty records in the archive. Rehearsals of from the frenetic pursuit of the new necessary if one seeks to see beyond the of time endorsing the archive's mission of sanctioning people's actions as now records of past achievements that rewound. It is this conflict between people's worldly life and the conditioned record of ursued in the of progress ntial history unfolds. Potential not the account of of explicit ideological nperialism, but a rejection imperialism's apparatus altogether. The imperial apparatus presumes that such struggles exist only in the past, only as dusty records in the archive. Rehearsals of from the frenetic pursuit of the new necessary if one seeks to see beyond the of time endorsing the archive's mission of sanctioning people's actions as now records of past achievements that rewound. It is this conflict between people's worldly life and the conditioned record of ursued in the of progress ntial history unfolds. Potential not the account of of explicit ideological nperialism, but a rejection imperialism's apparatus altogether. The imperial apparatus presumes that such struggles exist only in the past, only as dusty records in the archive. Rehearsals of from the frenetic pursuit of the new necessary if one seeks to see beyond the of time sanctioning people's actions as now records of past achievements that rewound. It is this conflict between people's worldly life and the conditioned record of ursued in the of progress ntial history unfolds. Potential not the account of of explicit ideological nperialism, but a rejection imperialism's apparatus altogether. The imperial apparatus presumes that such struggles exist only in the past, only as dusty records in the archive. Rehearsals of from the frenetic pursuit of the new necessary if one seeks to see beyond the of time of past achievements that rewound. It is this conflict between people's worldly life and the conditioned record of ursued in the of progress ntial history unfolds. Potential not the account of of explicit ideological nperialism, but a rejection imperialism's apparatus altogether. The imperial apparatus presumes that such struggles exist only in the past, only as dusty records in the archive. Rehearsals of from the frenetic pursuit of the new necessary if one seeks to see beyond the people's worldly life and the conditioned record of ursued in the of progress ntial history unfolds. Potential not the account of of explicit ideological nperialism, but a rejection imperialism's apparatus altogether. The imperial apparatus presumes that such struggles exist only in the past, only as dusty records in the archive. Rehearsals of from the frenetic pursuit of the new necessary if one seeks to see beyond the of time conditioned record of ursued in the of progress ntial history unfolds. Potential not the account of of explicit ideological nperialism, but a rejection imperialism's apparatus altogether. The imperial apparatus presumes that such struggles exist only in the past, only as dusty records in the archive. Rehearsals of from the frenetic pursuit of the new necessary if one seeks to see beyond the of time ursued in the of progress ntial history unfolds. Potential not the account of of explicit ideological mperialism, but a rejection imperialism's apparatus altogether. The imperial apparatus presumes that such struggles exist only in the past, only as dusty records in the archive. Rehearsals of from the frenetic pursuit of the new necessary if one seeks to see beyond the of time ntial history unfolds. Potential not the account of of explicit ideological nperialism, but a rejection imperialism's apparatus altogether. The imperial apparatus presumes that such struggles exist only in the past, only as dusty records in the archive. Rehearsals of from the frenetic pursuit of the new necessary if one seeks to see beyond the of time not the account of of explicit ideological imperialism, but a rejection imperialism's apparatus altogether. The imperial apparatus presumes that such struggles exist only in the past, only as dusty records in the archive. Rehearsals of from the frenetic pursuit of the new necessary if one seeks to see beyond the of time of explicit ideological nperialism, but a rejection imperialism's apparatus altogether. The imperial apparatus presumes that such struggles exist only in the past, only as dusty records in the archive. Rehearsals of from the frenetic pursuit of the new necessary if one seeks to see beyond the of time imperialism's apparatus apparatus altogether. The imperial apparatus presumes that such struggles exist only in the past, only as dusty records in the archive. Rehearsals of from the frenetic pursuit of the new necessary if one seeks to see beyond the of time altogether. The imperial apparatus presumes that such struggles exist only in the past, only as dusty records in the archive. Rehearsals of from the frenetic pursuit of the new necessary if one seeks to see beyond the of time altogether. The imperial apparatus presumes that such struggles exist only in the past, only as dusty records in the archive. Rehearsals of from the frenetic pursuit of the new necessary if one seeks to see beyond the of time that such struggles exist only in the past, only as dusty records in the archive. Rehearsals of from the frenetic pursuit of the new necessary if one seeks to see beyond the of time only as dusty records in the archive. Rehearsals of from the frenetic pursuit of the new necessary if one seeks to see beyond the of time Rehearsals of from the frenetic pursuit of the new necessary if one seeks to see beyond the of time frenetic pursuit of the new necessary if one seeks to see beyond the of time one seeks to see beyond the of time into past, and future and to relate to classified as outdated and impracticable as concrete, common options. disengagement the practice history and time colonized space that reactivated progress archival litigation cannot be out of active imperially operative service radical struggles of conceptual disengagement are slicing present actions

Rehearsing is doing history

Rehearsals begin by replacing impulse to innovate with a shared right to participate in the common. The to participate means that one's participation is —and —always limited and equally enhanced by others who also participate, by way of their presence, needs, aspirations, legacies, and experiences.
Rehearsals involve reiteration, time and again, of statements that were made obsolete by imperialism because they threatened to impede the motion of and the unlimited rights of some to pursue their visions . Rehearsals consist in repeating and what others have already said, established, performed, or written at different conjunctures before us, when they were subjected to different imperial violence. Thus, rehearsals of disengagement are in avoiding the imperial that asks us to seek new solutions Situations described as failed moments of resistance to imperial power, the failure of which is taken as accepted fact, restaged differently: first, in order to retrieve a world in which this fact was not yet accomplished and imperial condition could not be taken for granted; second, in order to enable these statements and protest, erased by imperial , to emerge again as competing valid options.

the imperial right should be the existing progress for all reactivating modalities of crucial temporality for a better future will be the modalities of power

My own rehearsals of disengagement have been vital to my study of practices and modernity, such as human rights and sovereignties, in a way that combines accounts of the disasters of modernity with the potential they still hold. Deliberately assuming that precedents for acts of claim for rights exist, I reject the presumed newness of resistance to formations that is ascribed to such as the Haitian Revolution or to the first Palestinian intifada, as if they emerged from nowhere.
Working intentionally to the uninterrupted existence of competing models and J. I sought to qualify with them the neutral terms such as sovereignty, the state, revolution, and human rights. Rather than ordering statements by their order or newness, I thought to distinguish them on the basis of their approach to imperialism and to depict them as competing regardless of their time, threatening being threatened by imperial of progress that statements as either old or new, conservative or progressive. This is crucial in emphasizing the aspect of protection of non-imperial against imperial attempts to rupture — and praise the murder of the father as the template of political order— the dispersal of civil actors prevented from publicly carrying out of rights-claiming, collaborative and intersectional actions.

major institutions of civil resistance or imperial events recover political concepts seemingly repetitive chronological formations and temporality qualifies intergenerational formations such solidarity and performances and lead to be seen and and and su of the past from Muran rights and sovetights the His May will that combines accounts of the disasters na Medicinity with the total popularity with the total popularity and the total popularity with the total popularity with the total popularity and the total popularity with the total popularity and the total popularity with the total popularity and the total popularity with the total po Mr clusty records hold. Deliberately assuming that precedents pour se ministra communaler for acts of Fig. 2. See a claim for rights exist. I reject the presumed newness of resistance to hearth formations to his amountable petitive chronological. formetions and temporality qualifies Revolution or to the first Palestinian Werking intensectably to the horizon parties of competing The templesteen which the state of the state revolution. and humily Nghts. Rather than chronologial is a coder or newness, I thought intersectional as competing Self Waregardle Color time, threatening gas being threatened by imperial [154] (159-15] of progress that Statements hea help is statements as cirgles with conservative or progressive. This is on rupture Figure 18 Figure and praise the

EMERGED PRESUMED DELIBERATLY STILL ING STEALING Anatomie The CLAIM PHRONOLOGICAL FROM NOWHERE SOCH AS FOR HUMAN RIGHTS DEBILERATLY WORKING EVENTS REGARDLESS RIGHTS AS THEY SUCH AS INTENTIONALLY AND OF THEIR MY OWN AND HUMAN ORDER OR AND BEING REVOLUTION NINTERPUPTED THE STATE SOVEREIGNTY TIME CONCEPTS THREATENED THAT NEW TENPLATE OF POLITICAL OF FATHER INTERSECTIONAL ORDER OR OLD PRAISE AND PUBLICLY COLLABORATIVE AND ASPECT STATEMENTS THE MURDER OF THE

